The team is controlled by the governing body for soccer in Australia, Football Australia (FA), which is currently a member of the Asian Football Confederation (AFC) and the regional ASEAN Football Federation (AFF) since leaving the Oceania Football Confederation (OFC) in 2006. The team's official nickname is the Young Socceroos.The team has won twelve OFC titles, one AFC title, and five AFF titles. They have represented Australia at the FIFA U-20 World Cup tournaments on 15 occasions with their best result being a fourth-place finish in 1991 and 1993.In their first foray into Asia in 2006 the team lost the quarterfinals of the AFC Youth Championship, to South Korea,[1] despite being considered one of the stronger teams. This was the first time the Young Socceroos had failed to qualify for the FIFA U-20 World Cup since 1989. Subsequently, on 5 February 2007 the FFA decided not to renew Ange Postecoglou's contract as head coach,[2] he was replaced by former Socceroo, and AIS head coach Steve O'Connor.[3]On 24 June 2008 Jan Versleijen was appointed as the new U-20 coach ahead of the 2008 tournament, with the FFA eager to avoid a repeat of 2006, and qualify for the 2009 FIFA U-20 World Cup in Egypt.[4] In preparation for the tournament, Australia competed in the 2008 ASEAN Youth Championships in Thailand alongside China, Korea Republic and Thailand.[5] A competition they ultimately won through a penalty shoot-out against South Korea.[6] The 2008 AFC U-19 Championship was hosted by Saudi Arabia. Australia topped Group D with wins over Thailand and Jordan and a 11 draw with Uzbekistan. Australia then needed an extra time winner from Mitch Nichols to overcome North Korea in the quarter-final before losing 30 to UAE in the semi-final. However, making it through to the semi-final was enough to qualify for the 2009 FIFA U-20 World Cup.Australia qualified for the 2009 FIFA U-20 World Cup in Egypt after finishing in the final four of the 2008 AFC U-19 Championship. Despite a late James Holland penalty, Australia lost their opening game to the Czech Republic 21 before Costa Rica defeated the 'Young Socceroos' 30. In the final group game against Brazil, Aaron Mooy gave Australia an early lead however the final result saw Brazil win 31 and Australia was eliminated without a point.To qualify for the tournament, Australia travelled to Bandung, Indonesia in November 2009 for the qualification group and proceeded after finishing second in a group of six nations. Wins over Hong Kong, Chinese Taipei and Singapore proceeded to a 00 draw with the hosts, Indonesia and a loss to Japan.Australia competed in the 2010 AFC Under 19 Championship Finals held in Zibo, China.[7]The tournament was held from 3 to 17 October 2010 in Shandong province. The matches were played at the Zibo Sports Complex Stadium and Linzi Stadium.Wins over Yemen and Iran followed by a 00 draw with South Korea meant Australia topped the group on goal difference. In the quarter-final against United Arab Emirates, Australia twice led before UAE equalised and took the game to extra time. Two extra time goals for Australia set up a semi-final with Saudi Arabia, which Australia won 20 thanks to a Kerem Bulut double. The final was played on 17 October 2010 against North Korea. Despite leading in the first half, Australia couldn't hold on and lost the final 32. Kerem Bulut was the tournament's top scorer with 7 goals. Australia qualified for the 2011 FIFA U-20 World Cup to be held in Colombia.Australia qualified for the 2011 FIFA U-20 World Cup in Colombia after finishing in the final four of the 2010 AFC U-19 Championship. Australia was drawn in a group comprising Spain, Ecuador & Costa Rica.Australia failed to progress out of the group after finishing last with one point. The first fixture resulted in a one all draw with Ecuador after Tommy Oar scored a late equaliser. The next game saw Costa Rica defeat Australia 32. In the final game against Spain, Australia was down by four goals after just 18 minutes. In the 27th minute Kerem Bulut grabbed a goal back before Spain made it 51 with a 31st-minute penalty. This was to be the final score.To participate in the 2012 AFC U-19 Championship the Young Socceroos first had to qualify. The confederation was geographically separated and Australia was grouped with other East Asian nations, China, Indonesia, Singapore and Macau. These five nations met in Malaysia in November 2011 and Australia proceeded through the group by winning all four games, scoring 20 goals and conceding just 1.The 2012 AFC U-19 Championship was hosted by United Arab Emirates in November. Australia was seeded for the tournament along with the hosts and South Korea and North Korea. Australia's opening game was against Qatar. The only goal of the game came in the 11th minute for Australia when Corey Gameiro scored. Gameiro was on the scoresheet in both of the following group games when his 81st-minute equaliser against Syria and his 91st-minute equaliser against Saudi Arabia meant both games finished 11. The critical late goal to Saudi Arabia meant Australia not only proceeded on to the next stage at the expense of the Saudis but also topped the group.Australia took on Jordan in the quarter-final and it was Gameiro scoring all three goals in a 30 win that put Australia through to the semi-final and secured qualification to the 2013 FIFA U-20 World Cup in Turkey. Two second half goals to Iraq meant Australia were eliminated from the tournament. Gameiro's six goals were one short of the top goalscorer award.Paul Okon[8] coached Australia in the 2013 FIFA U-20 World Cup in Turkey where they failed to win a game despite scoring the first goal in all 3 fixtures. Daniel De Silva gave Australia the lead before Colombia levelled the game at 11. Joshua Brillante scored early before El Salvador scored twice before halftime and Jamie Maclaren scored in the 52nd minute but again Australia couldn't hold on with the hosts, with Turkey scoring twice.
These results mean Australia has failed to win in any of their last 13 U-20 World Cup fixtures with the last victory coming over Brazil on 4 December 2003.Australia started the 2014 AFC U-19 Championship campaign by participating in the qualifiers in October 2013. They travelled to Malaysia where they were joined by Vietnam, Hong Kong and Chinese Taipei. Mongolia had withdrawn. The first game was an easy 70 win over Hong Kong. Peter Skapetis scored four goals. They then defeated Chinese Taipei 30 before a humiliating 51 loss to Vietnam. Despite this, Australia was to proceed to the finals tournament as one of the best second placed teams.The 2014 AFC U-19 Championship was hosted by Myanmar in October 2014. Paul Okon again was head coach of the Young Socceroos for the tournament. The opening game was against United Arab Emirates. Brandon Borrello gave Australia a late lead but an 85th-minute penalty to the UAE saw the score end in a draw.[9] The second match was a 10 win over Indonesia through a Jaushua Sotirio goal. The final group game had Australia leading Uzbekistan in the 66th minute thanks to Stefan Mauk. However, an 82nd-minute equaliser would prove devastating for Australia as this, and the result in the concurrent game placed UAE, Uzbekistan and Australia all on five points with Australia having the inferior goal difference and hence elimination from the tournament. Many observers sighted Australia's lack of desire to score more goals against Indonesia as the contributing factor to the elimination. Australia failed to qualify for the New Zealand 2015 FIFA U-20 World Cup. This is just the second time since 1989 that Australia hasn't competed in the biennial event.Australia qualified for the 2016 AFC U-19 Championship that was held in Bahrain in October 2016. In the qualifiers hosted by Laos, they finished runner-up in their group and progressed on goal difference as one of the five best second placed teams. Comfortable wins over Philippines and Laos were followed by a heavy 30 loss to Japan. Steve Kuzmanovski finished as Australia's top scorer with three goals. This was the sixth consecutive U-19 Championship that Australia qualified for.Australia was coached by Ufuk Talay for the tournament and was drawn into Group D. The opening fixture was a 10 victory against China through a goal to Mario Shabow. The second game was against Uzbekistan. The Uzbeks led by three until they suffered a send off. Australia then responded through two second half penalties to Liam Youlley and George Blackwood however the final result was a 32 win for Uzbekistan. Australia needed to win against Tajikistan in the final group game to progress. Anthony Kalik had an early penalty saved and was later sent off for two yellow cards. The game finished 00 and Australia were eliminated from the tournament. As a consequence, they also failed to qualify for the 2017 FIFA U-20 World Cup. This is the first time that Australia has failed to qualify for two consecutive U-20 World Cups.The 2018 AFC U-19 Championship was hosted by Indonesia in October and November. Australia commenced their qualification for the tournament in Vietnam.[10] The matches had originally been scheduled to be played in Shepparton, Victoria however the Australian government refused entry to the North Korean squad.[11] As a result, the matches were moved to neutral Vietnam although the costs associated with the shift in venue saw Northern Mariana Islands withdraw. This left just two opponents in the group, North Korea and Hong Kong. In Australia's first match against Hong Kong, Ramy Najjarine scored early and then a late double from Moudi Najjar gave Australia a 30 win.[12] They then defeated North Korea 41 with goals again to Najjarine and Najjar as well as Fabian Monge and Denis Genreau.[13]With Ante Milicic now in charge, Australia started the tournament against South Korea in Bekasi. The Koreans scored first in the 55th minute however Najjarine curled in an 89th-minute equaliser to share the points.[14] The second match was against Vietnam which Australia won 21 through goals to Angus Thurgate and Ben Folami.[15] Reports emerged after the game that many of the Australian squad had been suffering from illness.[16] In their last group match against Jordan, Australia needed at least a draw to advance and they finished 11, with Oliver Puflett scoring the goal in the 10th minute.[17] In the quarter-final, Australia lost 31 to Saudi Arabia, with Nathaniel Atkinson scoring their only goal. Elimination at the quarter-final stage meant that Australia failed to qualify for the Under-20 World Cup for a record third consecutive time.[18]Australia were drawn in Group B alongside Vietnam, Iran and Qatar. They had a disappointing start, lost 0-1 against Vietnam, but bounced back with a 3-2 win over Iran and a 9-1 thrashing of Qatar, which help them qualified for the quarter-finals as group runners-up.In the quarter-finals, Australia faced the home team Uzbekistan. Playing with host, Australia had to endure a series of fierce pressure but unexpectedly took the lead in the 77th minute thanks to Gabriel Popovic, but just 2 minutes later the team was equalized by Uzbekistan thanks to a goal by Zafarmurod Abdurakhmatov. The two teams drew 1-1 after 90 minutes of regulation and 30 minutes of extra time. In the penalty shootout, Australia lost 4-5, bitterly watching the home team win the right to enter the semi-finals along with a ticket to the 2023 FIFA U-20 World Cup.Australia were drawn in Group A alongside host team China, Qatar and Kyrgyzstan. The team won all 3 group stage matches, earning 9 points and taking top spot in Group A. In the quarter-finals, Australia defeated Iraq 3-2, with a late winner from Alex Badolato helping the team qualify for the semi-finals and return to the U-20 World Cup after 12 years.
Entering the semi-finals against a Japan, the team defeated Japan 2-0.Australia qualified for the final against Saudi Arabia. Australia scored early through Louis Agosti in the 24th minute but could not maintain the lead. Saudi Arabia scored a late first half equaliser through Talal Haji in first half injury time. The two teams were tied 1-1 after 90 minutes of regulation and 30 minutes of extra time. In the penalty shootout, Australia won 5-4, thereby winning the AFC U-20 Asian Cup for the first time and the first Asian youth football championship since Australia joined the AFC.Australia were drawn in Group D alongside Italy, Argentina and Cuba.The following 22-player squad was called up for

It stars Daniel Hirsch, Kelli Maroney, Nicole Rio, Tom Shell and Joe Estevez.[1] The film follows a group of paintballers on vacation at a remote wooded cabin, who encounter with a duo of serial killers.Though the film had a theatrical release in some overseas territories, it was released direct-to-video in the United States, on December 17, 1986. It notably features one of the earliest film scores written by composer Hans Zimmer, in collaboration with Stanley Myers.Steve, Larry, and Rip are part of a paintball team known as "The Zero Boys". Fresh from a tournament win, the trio and their girlfriends take a leisure trip into the mountains, they stumble upon a gruesome massacre. Blood-chilling screams lead the group to a deserted cabin, where they gradually discover the horrors of the killings and the evil causing it. Now the Zero Boys, armed with real weapons of their own, must do what comes best: destroy the enemy.Daniel Hirsch as SteveKelli Maroney as JamieNicole Rio as SueTom Shell as LarryJared Moses as "Rip"Crystal Carson as TrishJoe Estevez, Gary Jochimsen and Elise Turner as The KillersStephen Kay as SoldierJohn Michaels as CaseyHarry Donenfeld as Snake

At the time, the two had recently founded the Lillie Yard recording studio in London, and worked mainly on independent and lower-budget films.[2] The Zero Boys would be the first of four B-movies Zimmer and Myers scored for director Nico Mastorakis and studio Omega Entertainment, all produced between 1986 and 1987.[3]In 2021, the complete score was released on CD by Notefornote Music in a limited, 1,000-copy edition.[4]The film was released on DVD by Simitar Video in 2000.[5] It was subsequently re-released by Image Entertainment in 2003[6] and by Arrow Films on Blu-ray/DVD on April 26, 2016.[1]^ a b Coffel, Chris (July 27, 2016).
